- Early voting and election day results are reported together as in-person voting results
 - Ballot by mail still reported separately
- Results will be reported by precinct, and will be separately reported by polling place
 - A report of results by precinct within a polling place should not be generated, to protect the secrecy of a voter's ballot

Implementation Plan

SB 2753 – Extended Early Voting Hours

X	X	X	X	at least 9 hours	at least 9 hours	at least 9 hours
Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday

Sunday	Monday Last Day of EV	Tuesday Election Day
at least 9 hours	at least 12 hours	ELECTION DAY

SB 2753 – Polling Place Selection

- SB 2753 requires any location that is used during early voting to be designated as election day polling places – including the Main Early Voting Location
- Counties can still establish additional election day-only locations
- General rules for the number and placement of early voting locations and election day locations have not changed
- However, because early voting locations have to be used on election day, you will need to consider your election day polling place rules when setting up your early voting locations

SB 2753 – Precinct-Based Polling Places

- For precinct-based counties, each precinct must be served by a single polling place located within the boundaries of the precinct
- Combination and consolidation can be used to have multiple precinct share a polling place on election day
- When setting early voting locations, must ensure that two early voting locations are not located in the same precinct or within the territory of a combined or consolidated precinct

SB 2753 – Countywide Polling Places

- Countywide polling places on election day must be placed according to a specific methodology
 - Number of polling places must be at least 50% (or 65% in first year) of number of precincts in the county
 - Can combine or consolidate precincts to reduce this number
 - At least one in each commissioners precinct
 - No more than twice the number of polling places in another commissioners precinct
- Countywide counties should consider these requirements when determining where (and how many) early voting locations will be established

SB 2753 – Results Reporting Requirements

- Election results for early voting and election day are reported together as voting in person, with ballot by mail reported separately
- Must generate precinct-by-precinct returns, and separately generate results by polling location
- Cannot generate a report of results by precinct at each polling place, to protect the secrecy of a voter's ballot
- Canvass will include precinct results and polling place results

SB 2753 – Ballot Box Procedures

- If ballots are counted by electronic voting system, early voting ballots and election day ballots will be stored in the same ballot box and counted together
 - The same voting system equipment can be used for early voting and election day
- If ballots are hand-counted, early voting ballots and election day ballots will be stored in separate ballot boxes:
 - Early voting ballot box -> EVBB
 - Election day ballot box -> ED Judge and Clerks

SB 2753 – Ballot Box Keys

- Two locks required for the ballot box during early voting, one lock required for election day
- When the same ballot box is used for early voting and election day, there are a few solutions to deal with this transition:
 - Keep two keys on the ballot box on election day, and give second key to PJ; or
 - Keep two keys on the ballot box on election day, and second keyholder comes to each polling place on election day; or
 - Remove second key from ballot box when polls open on election day; or
 - Deliver a new single-locked ballot box to polling place on election day
- Other solutions may exist, but resolving these types of questions is the primary function of the working groups and steering committee

SB 2753 – Voting System Procedures

- Same voting system equipment can be used for both early voting and election day
- Results for early voting are reported together with election day results as one single category (in-person voting)
- Must generate precinct-by-precinct returns, and separately generate results by polling location
- Cannot generate a report of results by precinct at each polling place, to protect the secrecy of a voter's ballot
- Zero tapes printed at polling place on first day of voting at that location, and results tape printed at close of polls on election day

SB 2753 – Ballot Counting Timeframes

- Ballots by Mail
 - If county over 100k, beginning on fourth day before election day
 - If county less than 100k, beginning when polls open on election day
- Early Voting and Election Day
 - Early voting ballots will be counted with election day ballots
 - Single media stick will be used for both
 - Cannot be counted until polls open on election day, but will typically be counted after polls close on election day
 - For most counties, this means early voting and election day ballots will be counted on election night
 - This will likely delay the timeframes for reporting unofficial results on election night

SB 2753 – Hand Counting Procedures

- Early voting ballots and election day ballots are stored in separate ballot boxes when counting by hand
- Early voting ballots and ballots by mail counted by EVBB
- Election day ballots counted by PJ and clerks at each polling place
- Must generate polling place results and separately generate precinct results
- Unofficial results for each polling place and for each precinct for voting in person will be aggregated by the general custodian of election records

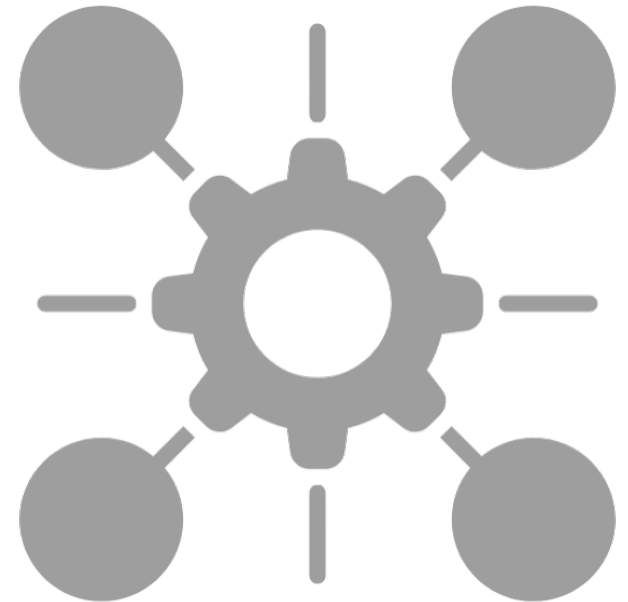

SB 2753 – Web Posting Requirements

- Unofficial results on election night must be posted on county's website and must include:
 - Results of each election
 - Total number of votes cast
 - Summary total of votes cast for each candidate and for/against each measure
 - Total number of votes cast for each candidate and for/against each measure at each polling location
 - Total number of votes cast for each candidate and for/against each measure in each precinct
 - Total number of votes cast by personal appearance
 - Total number of votes cast by mail
 - Total number of counted and uncounted provisional ballots
